- Self-starting and flexible culture that will interest and motivate the right individual

The Role:

Baker Consultants is seeking a Principal or Senior Ecologist to help deliver and expand our project work in southern England. We are looking for a highly experienced consultant who is willing to work remotely from our main office in Derbyshire, has the ability to attract new clients, and the drive to continue growing our business.

Location is flexible, although the M4/M3/M25 corridor would be ideal. Basic salary will be commensurate with experience - and we operate a profit-related bonus scheme.

Managing delivery of existing projects in the region, resourcing surveys, analyzing data, reporting and undertaking mitigation to meet project requirements.

Liaising with project teams and advising clients at all stages of their projects from pre-planning to project delivery, in-line with their requirements.

Developing new business from existing clients and researching and meeting prospective clients to explore new business opportunities.

You should have at least ten years experience of working in consultancy, with an excellent knowledge of the region, and the ability to manage complex projects.

You will have developed a technical specialism over your career, hold protected species licences and have a broad experience, both in terms of species and survey techniques, ensuring best practice as standard and challenging the norms where new methods would lead to better outcomes.

You will need to be self-motivated, and able to run with existing projects while attracting new work.

Whilst working remotely from the rest of the team, you will be expected to uphold the reputation of Baker Consultants for commercially minded, robust consultancy.
